

Wedding of the Year 2011

A brand new year, and a brand new title up for grabs

It's that time again, folks. Now in its third year, our Wedding of the Year competition has proved a huge success. The 2010 competition saw readers from all over South Wales enter for their chance to be crowned with the title, and we've decided to run the competition again and give all you soon-to-be weds the chance to show off your big day.

How does it work?

Throughout the year, we'll be looking for couples whose South Wales-based weddings have taken place between October, 2010 and September, 2011. Every issue we'll reveal the shortlisted couples, and readers can vote online for their favourite. The winner of each issue will go through to the final, which will be held in spring next year.

Any newlyweds can enter the competition: it doesn't matter whether the wedding was big or small, modest or spectacular. Remember, it's the readers who vote and determine who ends up in the grand final – and ultimately who wins!

What's the prize?

The overall winners will not only claim the all-important Wedding of the Year title, but they'll also win a relaxing two-night break at the romantic Llanisffraed Court Hotel in the heart of the Usk valley, worth £570. The couple will stay in the luxury of the hotel's Raglan Four Poster Suite, which has extended views of the ornamental lake and surrounding mountains, with a full Welsh breakfast on both mornings.

The prize also includes a magnificent seven-course tasting menu, complete with wine, on the first night, followed by a Table D'Hôte dinner on the second night. The lucky couple will also be able to have a champagne afternoon tea over the course of the weekend, which can be enjoyed in front of a roaring log fire in one of the hotel's sumptuous lounges, or out on the south-facing terrace to soak up some sunshine.

Terms and conditions apply, please see our website for details.

How to enter

If you'd like to put your wedding forward, just visit www.yoursouthwaleswedding.com and follow the Wedding of the Year link, where you'll find a short entry form. Simply fill this out and click 'submit' – that's all there is to it. If your entry has been successful, we'll be in touch to let you know. We look forward to hearing from you, and good luck! ♥
